Notes for Intending Contributors

1. Please submit an electronic file of the text, saved in a version compatible with 'Word' (i.e. .doc, .docx). Add a brief biographical statement, and if possible submit via the website including your ORCID.

2. Authors must obtain in writing all permissions for the publication of material under copyright and send a copy of this with their submission.

3. Submissions should be in English and observe usual Australian English conventions of usage, spelling and punctuation. More generally, the MHRA style guide is preferred. See <http://www.mhra.org.uk/ Publications/Books/StyleGuide/download.shtml> Footnotes should be used (rather than Endnotes or Author/Date styles).

4. References should be listed in MHRA style, e.g.:

   > Moravec, Mark, 'Foodways: A Review Article', Australian Folklore, 11 (1996), 227-231.
   >
   > Seal, Graham, The Hidden Culture: Folklore in Australian Society, 2nd edn (Perth, WA, Black Swan Press, 1998).
   >
   > The Oxford Companion to Australian Folklore, ed. by Gwenda Beed Davey and Graham Seal (Melbourne: Oxford University Press, 1993).

5. All tables, maps, photographs, etc., should be scanned in at least 300 dpi, and saved as a .jpg. file type with high resolution. Final captions and a clear indication of their preferred location in the text should be provided.

6. Institutional affiliation, email address or any general acknowledgements may be carried by the first footnote, and appear on the first page. Articles should have six to eight keywords. Articles should also have an abstract, of up to 100 words.

7. Texts submitted to Australian Folklore should not simultaneously be under consideration for another publication.

8. Articles and reviews are accepted for publication subject to approval by the referees, and available space. Acceptance rates are medium-level. Texts may be edited for style, i.e. the prime concern is consistency—both within the text and with other works in the journal. Every effort will be made, time allowing, to enable contributors' final proofing of plated text.

9. Copyright of items in their Australian Folklore format, and any associated fees (e.g. CAL), remains the property of the Association. This includes making articles freely available on the journal's website. However, authors are welcome to archive their pre-print and post-print pdf copies of their articles. See http://www.sherpa.ac.uk/romeoinfo.html 'Green'.

10. Book reviews are normally handled by the Editor/ Editorial Committee. All review footnotes should be worked into the text.
